The JoAnne Robinson Memorial Scholarship

GUIDELINES FOR APPLICATION:

- Applicant must be a fulltime college student with a major in broadcast journalism and should be African-American
- Scholarship is open to students nationwide
- Scholarship is one time only and cannot be renewed and is open to students going into their sophomore, junior or senior year
- Applicant does not have to prove financial need
- Applicant must exemplify qualities demonstrated by JoAnne Robinson — hard working, detail oriented; must have strong communication and interpersonal skills and a dedication to excellence, personally and professionally
- Applicant must submit academic records (transcripts), a written statement describing personal background, goals, values and characteristics distinguishing the student, making him/her a candidate worthy of recognition. Applicant should also submit a statement from at least one college professor.

Each year a Scholarship Committee will select the recipient of the JoAnne Robinson Memorial Scholarship. The name of the recipient will be submitted to the Scripps Howard Foundation. The Foundation will forward funds directly to the student's educational institution. Funds may be used towards tuition, books and/or other educational expenses.

Deadline for applications is February 28th each year. A scholarship of $1,000.00 will be awarded at the end of the Spring Semester for use during the upcoming academic year.
