Greetings:

As students prepare for the next semester, I thought I would take the time to bring you up to date on PITTSBURGH MAGAZINE's internship program.

In addition to editorial and marketing internships, we have expanded the program to include design and online positions. Each semester provides a different experience, and my colleagues and I try to tailor the internship to each student's interests.

I have attached four internship descriptions for you to pass along to your students. Application deadlines are as follows: November 15, 2010, for the spring; March 15, 2011, for the summer; July 15, 2011, for the fall.

Thank you for your time. I hope to hear from some of your students in the future.

Best regards,
